Cuban AF Major At Rotary Club

BY LINDA LOVE

Major Pedro Diaz Lanz, first commander-in-chief of Fidel Castro's Cuban Air Force, spoke to members of Canyon Rotary Club in its regular meeting Tuesday.

The major served as first commander-in-chief of the Rebel Air Force when Castro was in the hills, and was appointed first officer to fill the position when Castro took over Cuba January 1, 1959.

June 29, of that same year he became the first high ranking officer to denounce Cuban communism and communists, and, he says, denounced Castro as being a communist in his letter of resignation, given to all news media and directed to President Manuel Urrutia.

He was immediately warned by friends that his life and those of his family were in danger and, shortly before July 4, he and his wife slipped out of Cuba in a sail boat to arrive in Miami, Florida, on Independence Day. He says the Communist radio in Cuba denounced him as a traitor and began a campaign of persecution of his family as well as launching a strong campaign to discredit him.

Major Lanz was asked by the CIA not to inform the American people of the facts about communism in Cuba under Castro, he said, but July 14 of 1959 he appeared before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and denounced the Cuban leader as a communist. The following October he became the first person to fly over the city of Havana, dropping leaflets warning the Cuban people of what lay ahead under Castro's rule. He

Vandals Hit Hicks Home

Vandals damaged Christmas decorations at the Bill Hicks home on FM 1062 west of Canyon Saturday night.

The vandalism came a few hours after the Hicks family had been proclaimed winners in Canyon's community home decorating contest.

Deputy Sheriff Calvin Costley said the vandalism was done some time after midnight Saturday and was discovered the following morning.

The vandals made off with a lamb, a statue of Jesus, a donkey and half of Santa Claus. The items were found Sunday morning on the lawn at the Lee Foster residence in Canyon. Police believe vandals placed them there.

The Hicks worked most of the day Sunday replacing the decorations.

Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson said the Hicks place is outstanding this year. "It's the most beautifully decorated place I've ever seen," he declared.

Officers still were investigating at mid-week.

Proponents Invited To Trustee Meeting

Proponents of baseball for Canyon High School got a hit at school board meeting Monday night.

It wasn't a home run but it was at least a good clean triple.

Most members of the board were favorable to such a program and agreed to ask Tom Keeling to meet with the board in January to discuss the matter.

Keeling had presented a petition to Superintendent Huelyn Laycock asking that baseball be considered. The petition bore the names of a number of Canyon people.

Laycock, who declares he is a baseball fan, said he has mixed emotions about high school baseball. He chiefly is concerned about the time it will consume.

"It takes more time than other sports," he explained.

He also noted that it might interfere with other high school sports but said he thinks this can be worked out if the school board votes for a baseball program. Laycock also said members of the coaching staff are qualified to coach baseball.

He said the decision must come by Feb. 15 if the school is to participate in 1966.

One member of the school board noted that with the summer baseball program here, Canyon has a good foundation for a high school baseball program.

Service Club Honors Two City Leaders

First Outstanding Citizenship Awards to be given by Canyon Kiwanis Club were presented Friday to Mrs. Ples Harper and Raymond Raillard.

Presentation was made by Mayor Clarence E. Thompson, following an introduction by Jim Martin, chairman of the awards committee. Other members of the committee included Huelyn Laycock, Dr. Robert Wood, Ken Olsen, Ocie Chism and Dr. Burwell Southern.

The new honor was not established as an annual one, said Martin, but one to be accorded "as the occasion arises." It is to be based on achievements which will endure, and may go to any member of the community, from a college professor to a high school student.

Selection of the two Outstanding Citizens was in recognition of many activities which have contributed to Canyon's progress, but Mrs. Harper was praised particularly for her leadership as founder and president of Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation and Raillard for his work on the TPHF Board of Directors, as well as with Community Concerts.

Mrs. Harper is also a member of the American Association of University Women and the Chamber Names 4 Directors

Four new members have been named to the Canyon Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

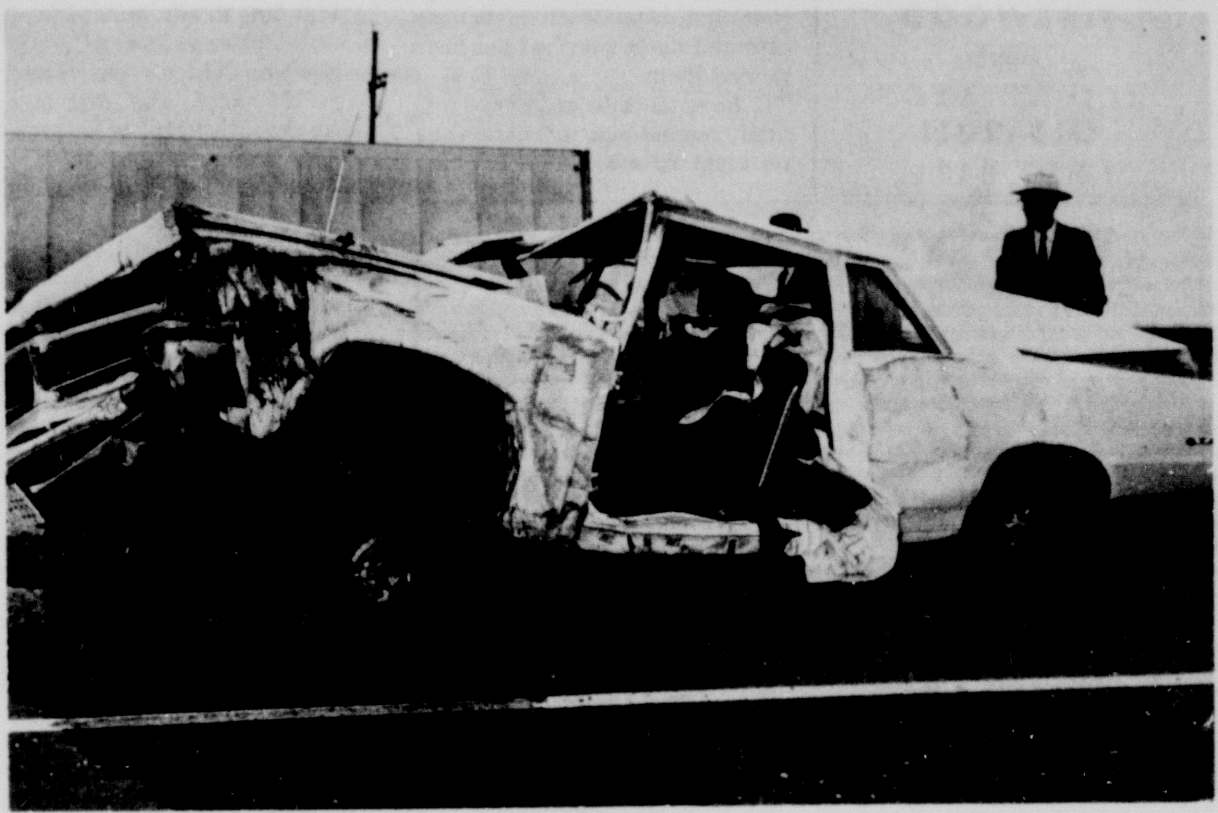
They include Charles Allen, Gene McGlasson, Dr. Burwell Southern and Charles Brasher.

Allen is vice-president of First National Bank. McGlasson is an attorney. Dr. Southern is an optometrist and Brasher operates the Phillips 66 distributorship in Canyon.

Retiring from the board are H. R. Fulton, W. A. "Bill" Wilson, R. E. "Barney" Barnard and Bill Davis.

The board will be organized and new officers named at a regular meeting to be held next Monday night. Fulton presently is serving as board president.

Last Thursday the membership adopted a new set of bylaws prepared and presented by George Dowlen, an attorney and member of the board of directors.



This is the car in which two Texas Western students lost their lives here Saturday. Dead in the grinding wreck were Henry Frizzell, Jr., 19 years old, Amarillo, and Arthur Joel Wilkowsky, 20, Dallas.

Two Students Killed In Accident Saturday

Two Texas Western students en route home for Christmas were killed here Saturday afternoon as their car rolled and ricocheted along the highway west of Canyon.

Dead in the grinding crash were Henry B. Frizzell, Jr., 19 years old, Amarillo, and Arthur Joel Wilkowsky, 20, Dallas.

The students were killed when their car rolled four times after failing to execute a curve about 3 miles west of Canyon on the Hereford Highway.

The accident occurred in front of the Bob Lindsey home and was witnessed by the Lindseys' young son, Bob, and a small friend, Phil Davis, who was visiting with him at the time.

Highway Patrolman Bill Clifton said the accident victims were en route from El Paso for the Christmas Holidays. The car was east-bound. The officer said Frizzell was driving.

He said their vehicle had just made the curve when it left the roadway gradually and traveled about 400 feet in a straight line. He said the driver apparently started steering to the right and the vehicle went into a broad skid.

Some 493 feet from where it left the road, still in the median, it overturned the first time. It traveled 60 feet in the air and hit partly back on the highway. It overturned three more times.

The last roll was on the inside lane of the east-bound roadway.

The car came to rest facing west after traveling about 100 feet backward. Wilkowsky was thrown about 150 feet and Frizzell about 50 feet.

Wilkowsky was believed to have been killed instantly. Frizzell died a few minutes after being taken to Neblett Hospital in a LaGrone ambulance.

Wreckage was scattered at least 400 yards along the highway. Both doors were torn from the car and the vehicle's wheels were ripped away. One door was found near the Lindsey driveway about 300 feet from the car. One wheel was found in a field on the north side of the highway.

Stove Fires For Firemen

In a season of home cooking, the Canyon Fire Department has answered two calls involving stove fires in the past week, according to Fire Capt. Joe Rice.

First was a fire with minor damage at the Dorris Moore home at 1207 Seventh Avenue. It occured December 15 when a telephone book lying on the stove caught on fire.

Shortly before noon Sunday firemen were called out again, when a roast burned in the T-Anchor Apartment of Bob Kite.

Contract Approved

Commissioners court Monday approved a paving contract and bought several items of equipment for various county offices.

The court approved a $10,400 paving contract with Billy J. Irwin for paving of 58th Street from Burlington to Osage in South Amarillo. Bid was let several weeks ago.

The court purchased an electric typewriter from Elliott Office Supply for $247.50. The typewriter will be used in the office of the tax assessor-collector.

Amarillo Office Supply was low bidder on three manual typewriters at $193.06. There will be used in the offices of the sheriff, tax assessor-collector and the district clerk.

Five chairs were purchased from Haley's Printing and Office Supply for $168.50. These will be used in the office of the tax assessor-collector.

Certificate Winners Are Announced

Final merchants appreciation gifts were given Saturday on the court house lawn.

Winners of the $130 gift certificiates were Cole Walker, Marcus Conway and Evelyn Adams.

Mrs. Imogene Townsend won two turkeys at the drawing. Other winners of turkeys were Mrs. George Hand, D. C. Freeman, Mrs. Gene Deeds, Mrs. Charles Thrasher, Lonnie Byars, Tom Platt and Mrs. L. H. Owens.

American Flag Raised In Gene Howe Program

BY LINDA LOVE

The Stars and Stripes were raised for the first time over Gene Howe Elementary School Tuesday.

The school, completed and occupied this fall, has been flying the Texas state flag, but only recently received its national banner.

Special ceremonies were conducted to celebrate the event, and two representatives of the U. S. Marine Corps from Amarillo raised the American flag at 9:30 a. m. Then members of the Cub Scouts led students, teachers and guests in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Among special guests were Huelyn Laycock, superintendent of Canyon District schools, and Oscar Hinger, principal of Rex Reeves Elementary School in Canyon.

Following the outdoor ceremonies an assembly was held. A special program was presented by Dick Caywood of Amarillo, who used narrative and dramatization to tell the story of the meanings of the American flag and the national anthem.

Caywood served for 14 years in the U. S. Navy, participating in World War II and the Korean War, and is a former newsman. He is now in the film production business in Amarillo.

It was fitting, he mentioned, that the Marines should be chosen to raise the new flag, for Marines have served as standard bearers for our country since 1775.

The speaker told a story of an experience he had many years ago in Oslo, Norway, when the youngest daughter of a Norwegian family he was visiting asked him why our national anthem is written to our flag. In most nations, Caywood explained, the anthem is in tribute to the country or to its king.

Unable to answer the girl's question, he thought of it and studied it through the years, and this led to the program which

Merry Christmas's Holiday Year-Long

Merry Christmas is a junior at Canyon High School.

Merry Christmas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Christmas of 8601 Wilshire Drive in Amarillo.

Merry Christmas is five foot five and is blonde haired and blue eyed. She likes art and playing the guitar and listening to music.

Merry Christmas is a homebound student because of a fever that has never left her since she had chicken pox at the age of 6.

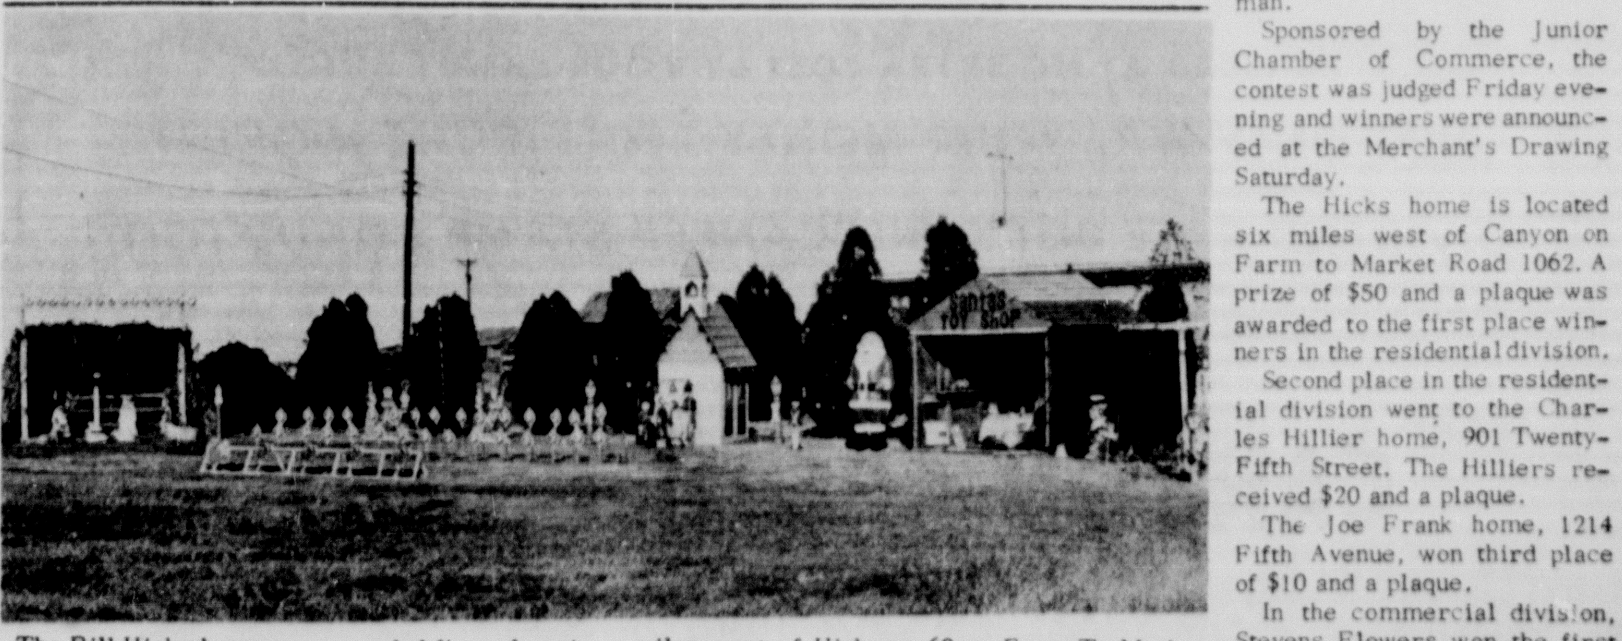
"Merry has to rest a lot but enjoys her school work," said Mrs. Christmas. Mrs. Mary Harrison of Amarillo and Mrs. Clara Long of Canyon go to the home as her teachers.

Merry Christmas is not confined to home, however. She goes to church and Sunday School and is active in the Future Homemakers of America.

Of their unique name, Mrs. Christmas said "Christmas is an English name, and we're the only Christmas in the Amarillo phone book and probably all of Texas.

"When we first came to Amarillo and the telephone man came to our house to install the phone, he said 'Mrs. Christmas, have you a son named Jingle Bells?' " laughed Mrs. Christmas. "I told him no, but I had a daughter named Merry.

"A lot of folks call us Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, and when we call our daughter Merry Christmas, they think that we are just joshing out of season," concluded Mrs. Christmas.



The Bill Hicks home was awarded first place in the Canyon community Christmas Lighting Contest this year. The home is located about 6 miles west of Highway 60 on Farm To Market Road 1062.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

This is the glad season of the year. This is children's time.

Our seven - year - old, especially, has bubbled with growing excitement as Christmas approaches. It's a joy to watch a little fellow's happiness about Christmas but it is also a sadness when you think that the same little guy may be only 10 years away from a Korea or a Viet Nam.

While we are enjoying our hearths and families, I hope that none of us will forget that for some this is one of the bleakest Christmases in the history of our country.

For families with sons at the battle front, it's not going to be a very good Christmas. The most heartbreaking aspect of this is the fact that America seems content to go its affluent way little mindful of the young men who are giving so much for our well-being.

Never until Korea did we ask our GIs to sacrifice their lives without hope of victory. Even in Korea we had the excuse of being ill-prepared at the outset.

In Viet Nam we ask our young men to die with the knowledge that equipment which might have effected their survival has been denied them.

I have always contended and still contend that this nation has no right to ask a single young man to die while his countrymen court safety at his expense. I firmly believe that if the world were to learn that this country is willing to commit its all in upholding a single principal or protecting the life of a single American, the necessity of feeding a percentage of each generation to the Red monster would end abruptly.

* * * *

Every year representatives of Canyon civic clubs meet to choose a "man of the year." However, the city's outstanding citizen could be a woman.

I sometimes think the outstanding citizen should be a composite.

If this were possible, I'd nominate the Canyon builder and developer. I've been in Canyon five years and I think our builders and developers have done more for beauty and the good life in Canyon than any other group.

Canyon has few palatial homes but it has hundreds of beautiful homes. Every Canyon builder to whom I've talked loves his work and that love shows through in the homes that rise in Canyon.

Developers must be men of vision and on the basis of that vision our Canyon of the future takes shape.

Canyon is a clean town. It is blessed with good law enforcement, good schools, and good city and county government. We in Canyon have a lot for which to be thankful at this time of the year.

Baptists Give Service Awards At Celebration

Approximately 700 persons attended the Diamond Jubilee Celebration of the First Baptist Church of Canyon Sunday. Day's events included special speakers for the morning and evening worships and presentation of four awards.

Appreciation awards for service to the church were presented to the two guest speakers, Dr. Roy L. Johnson and Rev. Lyn Claybrook, the only two former pastors of the Canyon church still living, by present pastor Strauss Atkinson.

Dr. Johnson, Superintendent of Missions for the Interstate Baptist Association of Portland, Oregon, was pastor when the church observed its fiftieth anniversary. He delivered the morning sermon, entitled "The Mission of a Church." Pulpit guest for the evening worship, Rev. Claybrook of Memphis, Tennessee, was pastor when the present sanctuary was begun. He spoke on the topic "Christ and the Church."

Other awards went to Dr. J. A. Hill for his 55 years of service as a deacon, and to W.H. Harden for 39 years' service in the church.

Morning service was highlighted by the burning of the mortgage note on the educational building annex constructed in 1955. A fellowship dinner was held following morning worship, and a reception was given at the close of evening services.

Theme of the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration was "I Will Build My Church," taken from Matthew 16:18.

Among out-of-town guests were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hammit, Mrs. Tommy Petropoulas, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Petropoulas, Judy Petropoulas, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Kersey, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jo Hunter and daughters Donna and Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hill and daughter Maralyn, all of Amarillo; Dr. and Mrs. George L. Court Of Honor Held By City Scout Troop

A Tenderfoot investiture, six rank awards and presentation of merit badges marked the Court of Honor held Monday evening by Boy Scout Troop 108.

Mike Adams served as master of ceremonies for the event, which took place in the First Presbyterian Church.

During ceremonies Ricky Ziegler was presented with the Life Scout award by Johnnie Barrett, and Eagle Scout Curtis O'Donald was awarded the Bronze Palm by Scoutmaster R. T. Ziegler.

Other advancement in rank included Second Class awards to Brian Stoker, David Hernandez and Jackie Edwards by Roger Wilson; the Star Scout award, given to Barry Cox by Chris Blasdel; and investiture of Tenderfoot status for Greg Livesay, performed by David Graham.

A total of twelve merit badges were received by six Scouts, with five of the badges awarded to Cox.

NEW LIFE SCOUT of Troop 108 is Ricky Ziegler pictured here with his father, Scoutmaster R. T. Ziegler. The boy received the award Monday evening at a Court of Honor.

Following the presentation of the Colors and an invocation by Sue Barrett, dinner was served. The program itself was begun with a welcoming address by the scoutmaster.

Ziegler reviewed briefly the activities and achievements of Troop 108 for the year of 1965. Since November of last year, he reported, the troop has registered 17 Tenderfeet and five transfers. Of these thirteen have advanced to second class. Other total advancements shown in the records were six to first class, five scouts to Star, five to Life and two to Eagle status, with one receiving the Bronze Palm. Fifteen different scouts have earned a total of 66 Merit Badges.

The troop itself has won several honors, said Ziegler. These were ribbons for Scout Circus and for clean camp area at Supper Camp; ribbon of merit and honor, District Camporee; ribbon for Honor unit, 1965 Roundup; National Camping Certificate; certificate of recognition for a more than 60 per cent advancement and more than 83 per cent First Class; and a certificate for 100 per cent Boys Life.

The scoutmaster reviewed also the year's trips and activities, noting that the troop has had five different fund raising activities which raised a total of $500 for the troop fund. Of this amount, he added, $400 will remain in the bank when all money owed the troop is collected.

Additional participation included the following: 17 Scouts made the Ski Trip to Sipapu last February, and this is to be made an annual affair; ten of the junior leaders attended the Junior Leaders Training Course last May at Camp Don Harrington and received JLT Certificates; the troop participated in the District Scout Circus; twelve Scouts earned National Rifle Association Awards, with some earning more than one each; 16 Scouts went to summer camp at Don Harrington for one week; 17 went to the special Troop Summer Camp at Cowles, New Mexico, for four days; and, in addition, there were at least four additional overnight camps for the troop.

Fashions Highlight Mom-Daughter Coffee

A mother-daughter coffee was held Wednesday in the Canyon High School home economics department by eighth grade students of Mrs. Clara Long, home economics teacher.

The coffee featured refreshments prepared by the girls, including cinnamon rolls, snow balls, coffee and hot chocolate. The event served also as a "fashion review" for clothing recently completed by the group of some 23 girls.

"The girls have to wear their garments before they can get a grade on them," commented Mrs. Long. "Our first sewing project was aprons, and then we made simple skirts or jumpers.

"Students of this age get weary of long, time-consuming projects, so that has been an achievement for each of the girls," said Mrs. Long.

Articles made by the girls ranged from a bright red flannel nightgown to a skirt and jumper set and a two-piece blue bonded self-lined knit suit.

Students participating were Sharon Triplett, Althea Thomas, Cindy Stocker, Cindy Scrib, Sue Pegg, Marjorie Patterson, Shelia Patke, Mary Lou Parks, Patricia O'Brien, Kay Nester, Cathy Murriel, Armetha Lindley, Pam Johnson, Maureen Grimes, Melissa Hicks, Sandra Henscheid, Linda Hart, Martha Harper, Linda Mae Hale, Jo Lynn Gray, Nelda Cable and Martha Cable.

Beginning square dance lessons will begin on January 24 from 7-8:30 p. m. Lessons will be held for twelve consecutive Monday nights with a charge of $12.00 per person for the lessons.

Next scheduled dance will be held Monday, December 27, at 8 p. m. at the Junior Livestock Building. Guests are welcome.

Film Shown To Lucky Beavers

A film for Lucky Beavers 4-H Club meeting recently was the proper ways to show beef calves, pigs and sheep.

Various pictures of the Nativity scene were presented on the program by Mrs. Copus Boyd and Mrs. S. G. Elliott showed several slides of Nativity scenes of the world.

declares that on his return to this country he was jailed and threatened by the State Department with extradition.

The major remained in Miami until the summer of 1964, during which time he stayed in contact with people within Cuba. A year and a half ago he moved to Tulsa, Oklahoma. Becoming actively religious after his arrival in the United States, he travels now to speaking engagements, where he tells of his own experiences with communism and presents programs with a "God and Country" theme.

MAJOR LANZ

Major Lanz described the Cuban "surveillance committees" which exist in every block or small group of blocks within a communist city, in which no door is closed to the committee member, whose job it is to report anyone who is suspect. He told of the terror and distrust and denouncements which spring up among members of the same family as the committees work.

When no one loyal to the government can be found to do the job, Lanz said, murderers and other convicted criminals with little or no moral base are taken from prisons. They serve to record and keep track of every detail in a person's life, from how long it takes him to go to work to whom he speaks to as he waits for the truck, which has replaced the bus in public transportation. If he chooses to accuse a person of being a "counter-revoluntionary," the accusation is all that is needed.

The major described the manner in which communists stage a rebellion and eventually win control of a nation. He explained that a communist leader captures the dreams and desires of the people, promising peace and anti-poverty works. He wins the backing of good-hearted persons and patriotic leaders who find too late that they are "in a trap and are being used."

"In the name of social justice," Major Lanz said, shaking his head, "how cynical and unmerciful they can become. I spoke with 'Che' Guevara and Raoul Castro many times, and never was there a conversation in which the word 'kill' wasn't thrown about as if human lives were nothing. They destroy the moral basis of a nation.

"They promise them a better education, but what kind of education is it when men come to act like animals?"

The major went on to describe how production incentive in a nation is destroyed as factories are "nationalized," with political trustees rather than industrial engineers or experts at their heads. A worker who dares to criticize anything to the new factory chief can soon find himself in prison, he said.

The result is not only loss of incentive but downgrading of quality and production, he explained. Attempts to copy General Motors products fail, and trucks break down in the street. "Czechoslovakia used to be a leader in arms productions," he exclaimed, "but under communism, nothing.

"Slaves have never been able to produce anything."

he presents now to various groups.

In introducing the dramatization Caywood went on to describe the establishment and growth of the American colonies, and the background of the conflict with England and eventual revolution. Lacking in many essentials, the colonies did have great leadership, he pointed out -- leaders who were called "patriots."

Then followed the story, in dialogue, of Francis Scott Key's detainment aboard a British vessel anchored off the American-held Fort McHenry, and of the ship's captain as he taunted the patriot through the night's siege.

The account and dialogue were given simply and directly -- a straightforward, real reliving of the holding of the stockade by a band of woodsmen as ships and soldiers besieged the fort. Mood was heightened with the background sounds of drums and then bugles and small arms fire as the battle became more intense near dawn.

As the sky began to grow lighter, the captain and his prisoner turned to fact the fort, both knowing the scene would be one of English victory. But as the dawn broke onshore the patriot cried suddenly to his captor: "Look! Our flag still stands! By the grace of God, we have won!"

Key stood defiantly before the captain, telling him of the meaning and strength which the banner would hold for all men who, in the years to come, would strive for freedom; then Caywood ended his presentation with a reading of the first verse of "The Star - Spangled Banner," backed by the music of the anthem.

"If a little girl should ask you some day," he said, "why our national anthem is to our flag, you can tell her that in the Stars and Stripes is the spirit of America."

The car's spare tire was found on the east side of the Lindsey house some 200 yards from the point at which the vehicle came to rest.

Lindsey said he was in a back bedroom of his home when the crash came. He heard the sound and rushed into the yard.

"I saw the dead one," he related. "I told Bob and Phil to get me some blankets."

Lindsey found the Frizzell boy still alive and took off his coat and covered the boy with it. He then draped blankets over the Wilkowsky boy who was dead when Lindsey reached the scene.

Mrs. Lindsey called for an ambulance.

Clifton said evidence indicates that the car was traveling at an extremely high rate of speed at the time of the accident.

Frizzell was identified as the son of Maxine McClure of Amarillo and authorities said Wilkowsky was the son of Herman Wilkowsky of El Paso.

Funeral services were held in El Paso for the Wilkowsky youth and in Amarillo for the Frizzell boy.

Young Students Learn Lesson In Creativity

BY LINDA LOVE

If children are never restrained in their creativity and imaginative thinking, they will develop as they grow, and just as naturally.

This is the feeling of a smiling young grandmother who began college in 1957 and took up art for her own enjoyment. Mrs. Vera Brown is now the art teacher of 92 Canyon children.

Thirty-two of the students are enrolled in one class, and so many children pre-enrolled in art that ninth graders had to be sent to the high school to study. It would have been their fourth year with Mrs. Brown.

The art instructor's seventh grade class has just completed a copper tooling project, and the charming results reflect a great deal of Mrs. Brown's purposes and methods. The creations express, above all, individuality, and they are filled with personality and often humor. Most picture animals or birds, some show people, and only one is of a single inanimate object.

"I strive to give them freedom to experiment and to try out things themselves. When they get to the point that each is making something different, they have grown," commented Mrs. Brown.

According to the teacher, most children are quite restrained when they begin the classes. They tend to be somewhat self-conscious, and concerned with what their neighbors are going to say of their work.

"If once they get the feeling that it's an experiment," smiled Mrs. Brown, "then they begin to learn and grow. The main thing they have to learn is to see things. Most of us don't, you know: we just look at them. It pleases me when they come to school and say 'Oh, did you see the beautiful sunset last night?' Then I know they're learning to appreciate beauty."

This was the students' first experience in copper work. They have done leather tooling, as well as art work in pastels, tempera and charcoal.

Study begins in the fall with sightseeing excursions and with sketching. At the first of school the students are unable to help themselves solve their problems in the classroom, and Mrs. Brown feels she is doing little good if she attempts to tell them what to do. But as they go outside and study the real objects, she can point out things which help the students to comprehend their mistakes.

The children seem to prefer crafts, however, especially at this age. "They feel more secure in crafts," explained the teacher, "and it helps them use up a lot of energy, too.

More than that, it is something they can be proud of. I think they were pleased with their copper tooling, and this is more important than if I am pleased. When they start school I tell them that you strive to make what you are pleased with, and not to be a copy."

There were so many seventh graders who enrolled in art that some have been split up, with one group taking industrial arts the first semester, then exchanging with an art class the following session.

Students are encouraged to spend free time in working with their own ideas, and every so often they are given a "free time" in which they may choose any project on which they wish to work.

"I want them to learn to dare," stressed Mrs. Brown. "If they come in with an idea, even if they're working on something else, I want them to try it, and to learn to use their time.

"If I can help them to apply their natural creative thinking and imaginative thinking, I'll be satisfied. What worries me is that I will hurt one with a natural gift to perceive, because you can take away this natural gift by forcing a child to go no farther than the assignment given him.

"This gift of creative thinking is not a talent or a profession: it is a way of life. For instance, I want to help a child to see that if he makes a mistake in something, his imagination can find a way to make the mistake into something useful."

Mrs. Brown had spoken of going to college and perhaps of learning about art, but she had always worked full time. Then one day in 1957 her eldest daughter informed her she was enrolled at West Texas State College, and it was the beginning of a school career that has recently led to her master's degree. During this period she worked full-time every year except one. When she began teaching in Canyon she had three art classes, but after that first year she taught nothing but art.

Mrs. Brown indicated the copper work. "None of the children spent more than three weeks at this," she said "I like copper, because there are no complicated tools: they make a pencil sketch, then use their pencil erasers to do the work. It gives them a special feeling of the material."

The teacher smiled happily as students poured back into the classroom. "I made only one requirement for this project," she added. "They had to be mounted on something. . .and they had to be different."

Scouts Make Yule Candles

Christmas candles have highlighted recent meetings of Den 6, Pack 31, Cub Scouts.

Sam Richard, den chief, assisted with making the candles, which will be used as home decorations. Richard also gave a flint and steel demonstration and led games at a recent meeting.

A cooky tree provided by Mrs. Robert Olson highlighted the gift table arrangement. Refreshments were provided by David Kievit and John Denton.

Awards were received by Dwight Booth, Burl Brim, Jr., Mark McGaha, David Kievit and Jamie Wrather at a recent pack meeting.

Other members of the den are John Denton and Roy Lee Sparkman.

Dear Santa Claus,

My name is Vicki Lynn Golson. I am six years old and go to Town and Country Kindergarden. I've been a good girl, as have my sister Tracy and two brothers Stevie and Joe Bill. I want a baton, Tresie, and Tracy wants a baby Boo and bring Steve a gun and football and helmet. Joe Bill wants some soft toys, and maybe a etch-a-sketch, and some leatarods. Bring our dog Ringo a new collar. Be sure to fill our stockings with some apples nuts and candy.

Yours truly
Vicki Golson

CHILDREN AND SANTA met once again last Thursday night as members of Kappa Alpha Order at West Texas State University gave a Christmas party for eighteen first and second graders of the Presbyterian Children's Home. Among special guests was this wide-eyed tot, son of party chairman Joe Don Preston, pictured with Santa Claus. Saint Nick was played by Canyon sophomore Stanley Prichard. The children from the home received gifts donated by local merchants and were treated to refreshments by the KA members.

Brownies Receive Cooking Awards

Cooking certificates were recently awarded to members of Brownie Troop 18 by Southwestern Public Service.

The certificates were given for completion of a cooking course offered by the local firm. The girls learned terms used in cooking, how to measure dry and wet ingredients, and they baked muffins.

During the December meetings of the group, the girls have made Christmas topiary trees for home decorations. Bea Thompson and Debbie Fassauer, senior scouts, assisted with the project.

A Cookie tree made by Mrs. Robert Olson served as refreshments at a recent Christmas party for the troop. Terry Blasdel led the group in the singing of Christmas carols.

Members of the troop are Shannon and Shelly Brim, Cathy Bullock, Karma Denton, Candace and Cherrie Holdeman, Deidra Johnston, Mary Kate Keeling, Ellen Livesay, Aletha Joe Magness, Mary Lisa McBride, Pennie Peckenpaugh, Jo Beth Price, Sylvia Rittenberry, Karen and Kristen Romoser, Anna Bland and Eloise Thompson, Anne Shell, Melissa Wright, Tara Wooten, Kim Yarbrought, JoElyn Tippery and Debbie Hawthorne.

Episcopal Service Set

Rev. Charles Pederson of Canyon will be in charge of the services which will include the reading of the gospel according to St. Luke and the special reading of a Christmas story for the children as they gather around the Creche.

The program will conclude with the Holy Communion. The chapel of St. Andrew is located at the Episcopal Student Center on Fourth Avenue.

New Banner

STARS and Stripes are raised at Gene Howe Elementary School Tuesday morning by Sgt. Newberry and Sgt. Green of the U. S. Marine Corps. The ceremony marked the first time the American flag had flown over the new school.

Fun 'n' Folk

BY LINDA LOVE

Here's a note of interest, perhaps, to all Jaycees, who have been sponsoring the nationwide project known as Youth Expresses Support through American Christmas Trains and Trucks. This movement involves solicitation of food, clothing, medical supplies and toys for South Vietnamese civilians, and the packages are to be distributed personally by the official ambassadress of YESACTT this coming February.

Anyway, the ambassadress has been named, and her trip will include, through State Department cooperation, a tour of Viet Nam to entertain U. S. servicemen there. Yvette Mimieux should be quite an ambassadress!

Latest count of United States money supply shows paper bills totalling 31.5 billion dollars, coins in the amount of 3.1 billion dollars and 124 billion (or about 80 per cent of the monetary supply) in checking accounts. And according to reports, a greater percentage of this than ever before has changed hands during the flurry of Christmas shopping.

It is a time to give, in many ways. . .and it is also a time to receive. Giving is something which isn't too hard to do sometimes, especially during this marvelous season of warmth and friendliness and good will.

No, I'm serious. Just think how easy it is to get caught up in giving, once you have a little "atmosphere" for it. Giving parties for the orphaned, the ill or the elderly; giving food and Kool-aid to needy families, or to soldiers and natives in South Vietnam -- isn't it rewarding, and doesn't it make you feel good, and very satisfied with yourself?

I think this is the main reason so many people remark that they do so wish Christmas and its spirit could last throughout the year. Not only is it nice for everyone else to be particularly pleasant and happy, but one of the surest means of finding the "peace" of Christmas is in feeling free to be extra nice and to say a sincere "Merry Christmas" without feeling guilty of sentimentalism.

However, there's more to Christmas than that. Our giving is not the spirit of Christmas, not the central purpose of this celebration. The joy of Christmas comes in receiving; and have you ever thought how difficult it is to be a good receiver?

Oh, we've all had practice in receiving gifts and saying thank you and writing notes when it's appropriate. But the most important lesson for the gracious receiver is in taking the gift in the spirit in which it is given, and in honoring the giver through its use. We may say the proper things and use just the right closing in our note of thanks, but if we fail to enjoy or if we misuse something given in love or friendship, this is not being a good receiver.

A Canyon minister remarked Sunday on the strange solemnity and often cynicism of Christians, even while they are acceptors of the greatest gift this world has ever known. It made me think of two friends of mine, a couple who live every moment aware of this gift of life and love, and they are certainly no less good because they are so enviably happy. On the contrary! They have learned to receive and in so doing, they give without measure to all who know them.

Lt. D. D. Warrick of the U.S. Air Force wrote the following recently: "An even more important reason (for Christmas) is for what He accomplished for us and offers us spiritually. He not only offers us eternal life and pardon from sins, but also, a changed life, peace, purpose, victory over the frustrations and defeats of the world, and in His own words in John 10:10, "A life so full and abundant it overflows." How ironical that so many of us refuse these gifts or think that we, in our very finite wisdom. . . know more about how we can find a full and abundant life than God does.

"This Christmas I think we should continue to enjoy the customs we always do in the Christmas season, but I also think there is no better time than now to revive the oldest Christmas custom -- honoring and worshiping the greatest man historically and spiritually who ever lived."

Whether it be a quiet joy of that silent night long ago, the resounding joy of ringing church bells or the bubbling joy in children's laughter, this is a season filled with joy -- and with receiving.

Dear Santa,

I would like to have a Secret Sam set, a walkie-talkie and a guitar.

I have been good and helped Mother wash dishes and make the beds.

Love
Ty Pruett

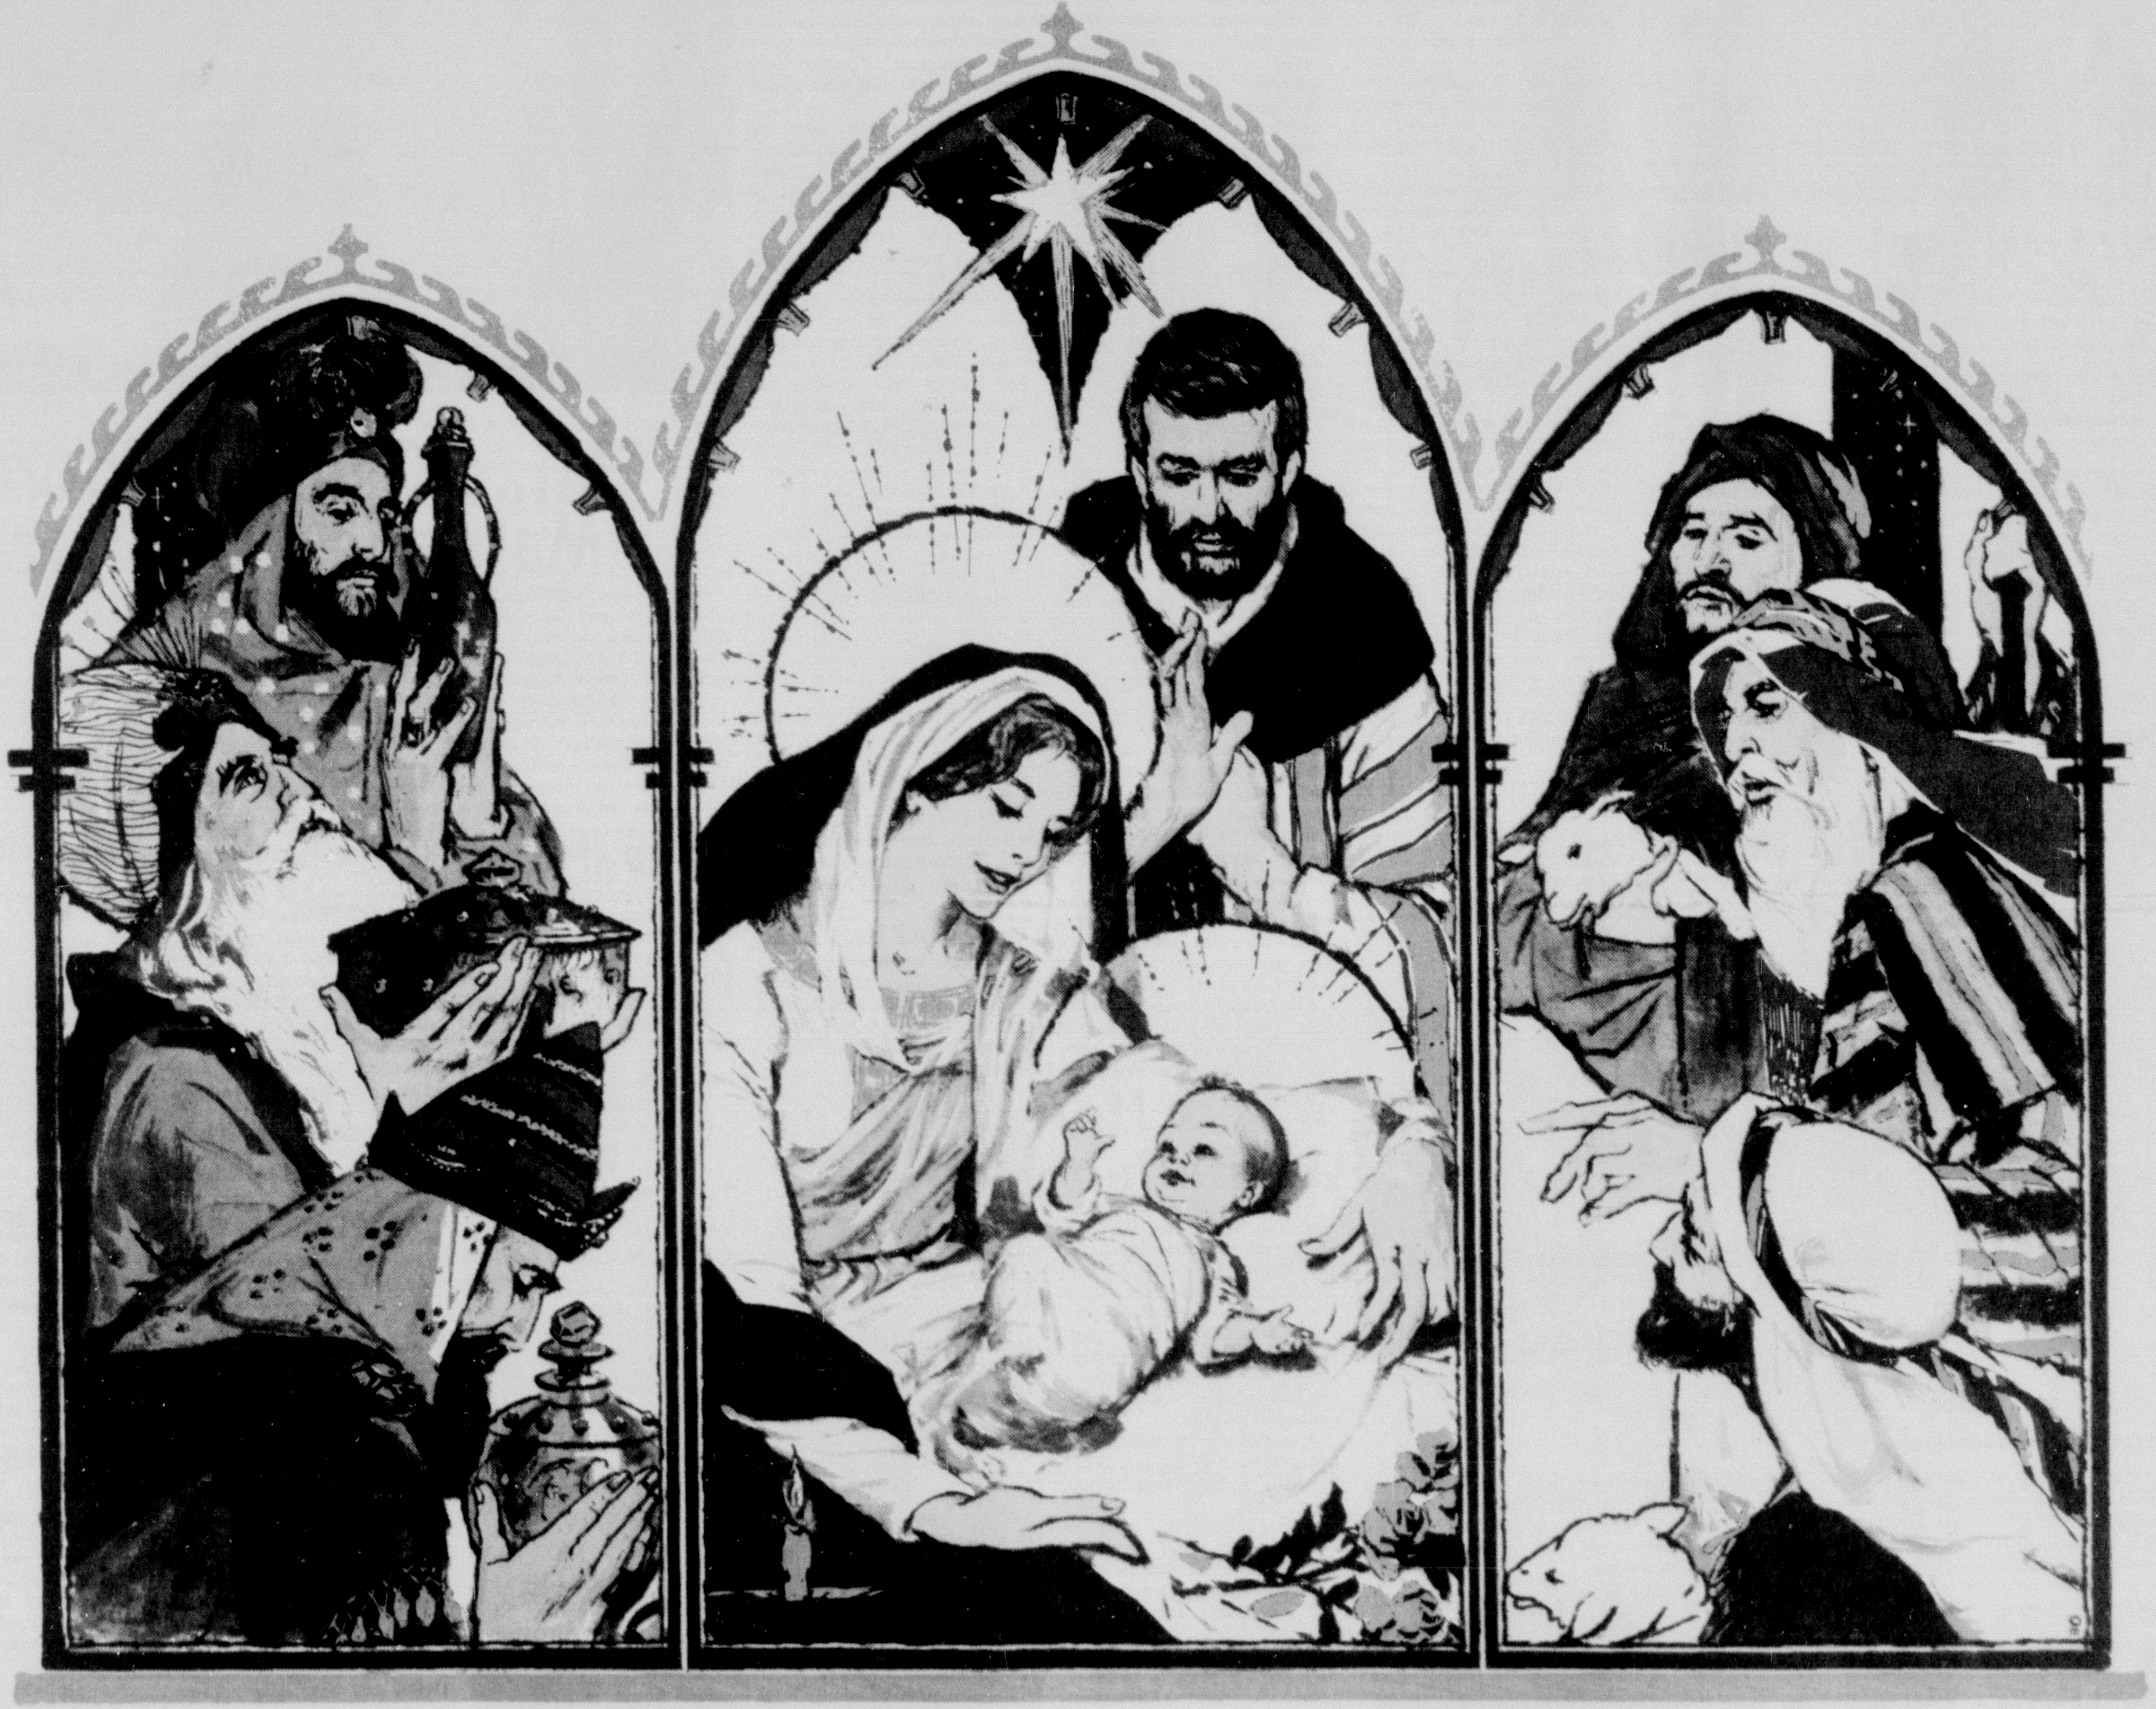
CHRISTMAS GREETINGS



"Unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." To humble shepherds keeping watch over their flocks in starlit fields, the triumphant message of the herald angels burst forth in fullest glory. And for the Wise Men from afar, the brilliant light of a Star shone in the heavens, guiding them on their way. Then to the sacred manger, shepherds and Wise Men came, to worship and rejoice. Each year, as we hear the Christmas story and welcome anew the Christ Child in our hearts, we find a new meaning for life, a new hope for the future. For Christmas is not an ancient tale of bygone time. Christmas lives. Christmas is now. Christmas is ever wondrous, ever radiant with joy and promise. May all its blessings be yours.

COOK OF THE WEEK

Shares Holiday Treats

BY LORENA MILLER

Mrs. Cecil Winn, 2406 Seventh Avenue, shares an unusual holiday dessert and ways to use left over turkey after the holidays with our readers this week.

The former Miss LaNelle Bassett became the bride of Cecil Winn on a Friday, March 13, 1953, but "we have only had good luck" said Mrs. Winn.

"I skipped a teachers' meeting to get married," laughed Mrs. Winn, who at the time of her marriage was a teacher at Forrest Hills Elementary School in Amarillo.

Mrs. Winn received her high school diploma from West Texas Demonstration School in Canyon, later receiving her bachelor's degree in elementary education at WT. She taught for three years prior to her marriage.

Raised in the Canyon-Amarillo area, Mrs. Winn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bassett of southwest Amarillo. She has one brother, Wayne, in Amarillo.

The father of Cecil Winn is W. A. Winn of Texhoma, and he also has two sisters and two brothers, including Mrs. M. L. Kelly and Tom Winn, both of Amarillo; Fred Winn of Texhoma and Mrs. Gene Simmons of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Mr. Winn is occupied with farming interests near Wayside and enjoys fishing outings, according to his wife. The couple has resided in Canyon for five years, and prior to that lived on a farm northwest of Canyon for several years.

Members of the First Baptist Church, Mr. Winn works in the nursery department and Mrs. Winn is a substitute teacher for a Sunday School class.

The Winns have two daughters and a son, Greg. Greg, 12, is active in the Boy Scouts and is presently working on a second class badge. He is in the sixth grade at Rex Reeves Elementary School and likes music, especially the piano. During the summer Greg stays busy working in the yard and helping his father on the farm.

Celia, the Winns' second child, will be eleven in January and is a fifth grade student at Rex Reeves. She has taken music lessons in the past and is presently active in the Girl Scouts on the junior level.

The Winns' youngest daughter is Sharon, 8. Sharon is a second grade pupil at Rex Reeves and works in the Brownie Scouting program. She also sings in the primary church choir at the First Baptist Church and participates in World Friends.

Mrs. Winn has recently joined the Woman's Book Club in Canyon. She is active in the American Association of University Women and both she and her husband participate in the Young Farmers and Young Homemakers Clubs in Canyon.

"I am presently serving as a graduate assistant in educational research under Dr. Burl Brim at WT," said Mrs. Winn. She is also taking two courses at WT this semester and commented that reading is one of her favorite hobbies.

"We like quick-to-fix meals and dishes that can be prepared and put in the freezer," said Mrs. Winn. The recipes she shares may be used fresh or frozen for company meals. Her recipes follow:

PUMPKIN PUDDING

1 pumpkin (1 1/2 pound) or 1 1/2 cups cooked pureed pumpkin
3 eggs, separated
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. ginger
1/4 tsp. cloves
3 Tbsp. rum
1 cup light cream
1 cup light brown sugar
1 cup wheat germ
whipped cream

Cut pumpkin in half. Remove seeds and fibrous portion. Cut into small pieces and pare. Cook in boiling salted water until tender, about 25 minutes. Drain and force through a food mill or coarse sieve (or use canned pumpkin).

Beat egg yolks. Add remaining ingredients, except whipped cream. Mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold egg whites into pumpkin mixture.

Turn into a buttered one-quart baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 40-45 minutes.

Serve hot topped with whipped cream. Serves six.

CHICKEN TACOS

3 lb. chicken (boiled)
1 large can enchilada sauce
1 cup mushroom soup, undiluted
1 large onion, chopped
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
dash pepper
1 pkg. tostados
1 cup chicken broth
grated cheese.

Grease baking dish and line with tostados. Add chicken mixed with soup, onion and enchilada sauce. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and top with tostados. Add one cup of chicken broth.

Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves six.

May be prepared ahead and frozen. To bake while frozen remove from freezer and bake at 350 for 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

May substitute cream of chicken or turkey soup for mushroom. Also may substitute left over pieces of turkey instead of chicken (3-4 cups turkey).

"Wrapping Packages" was the program presented by Mrs. Norman Adams.

Members present were Mesdames G. A. Stucker, Floyd Thomas, Kenneth Tillman, Bill Toler, C. L. Shields, Elvis Tyler, Herbert Guepper, Rudy Wesel, Eugene Anderson, Mike Michonski, Norman Adams, Harold Ricketts, Don McMahon, Bob Costley and Don Witcher, and Mrs. Marlow, hostess.

Next meeting will be January 6 in the home of Mrs. Norman Adams, when members will make carpet purses. The 9 a. m. meeting will be held at 921 West Colorado.

NATIVITY TABLEAU for Canyon residents was staged both Thursday and Friday nights of last week by the Canyon Jaycee-Ettes with assistance from the Canyon Junior Chamber of Commerce. The annual nativity scene was set on the courthouse lawn and featured live characters of the Three Wise Men, Mary, Joseph, the shepherd boy and the angel along with several live animals in the scene. Mrs. Allen Parson was chairman of the annual project.

Notes Feature Theatre Scene

"Slender Sender" notes which bear an etching of Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon on the front are being sold by the Canyon chapter of American Association of University Women.

The etching in brown was made from an aerial view of the canyon theater shown in a photograph which AAUW member Mrs. Ples Harper supplied. Mrs. Harper is also founder of the theater.

The seven-inch wide notes open into a nine and one-quarter inch long writing sheet. Each box contains fifteen notes with envelopes and sells for $1.

Money from sales will be sent to national headquarters in Washington, D. C., to be used in fellowship programs which sponsor doctoral candidates from throughout the world who wish to study in the United States. Mrs. Charles Harter, fellowships chairman, is in charge of the project.

The AAUW conducts a College Faculty Program as well, according to Mrs. George Blackwell, president. In this program, any money raised is used locally, and the project involves those who have degrees but are not teaching now. Any person is welcome to apply for either the fellowship or the CFP, added Mrs. Blackwell.

In previous years each member of the club has contributed $1 to such association programs, she commented, but this year members have decided to give $3 to $5. This increase in pledged led to the "Slender Senders" project, and the club hopes to expand sales of the notes and make it a continual service.

Churches Plan Joint Service

A joint Christmas service will be held Christmas Day by the First Christian and First Methodist Churches of Canyon.

The special program will be held in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church from 10-10:30 a. m.

All members of the two churches and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Graduate Dean Gives Address

West Texas State University will offer its first degree on the doctorate level within five to ten years, predicted Dr. John B. Wilson, dean of the Graduate School at WTSU.

The remark was made in an address entitled "Hopes, Dream and Fears" delivered at the regular monthly meeting last week of the Association of Graduate Assistants.

Dr. Wilson commented also that graduate assistants are more sought after than any other commodity except professional football players.

The speaker stated that WTSU has one of the oldest graduate schools of the nation, having been in existence some 35 years. It now offers four graduate degrees in 21 fields.

Graduates compose seventeen per cent of the total WT enrollment, he quoted, and next year's goal is set at twenty per cent. Both graduate and under - graduate programs are fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, and the graduate program has been accepted into the National Council of Graduate Schools, according to the dean. The university could have no higher accreditation.

The graduate assistants adjourned their meeting to refreshments of coffee and cookies.

Enjoyable Music Mark Of Sullivan's Success

BY THELMA FULTON

Canyon Community Concert members who attended the program by Brian Sullivan, tenor, were unanimous in their approval of his brilliant voice and the well-balanced program he presented.

It was, in this reviewer's opinion, the finest vocal program our series has ever presented, and we only wish everyone who enjoys singing could have heard this truly inspired and thrilling voice.

Mr. Sullivan's recordings and reputation do not, in our opinion, do him justice. We agree wholeheartedly with critics who suggest that he might be called the captain of the tenor team because of his all-round prowess in every field of vocalism.

One who attended this concert was overheard with a remark similar to this: "I am enjoying this because he is singing the kind of music I can enjoy!" This was, we think, certainly a true statement, but, we want to add that Mr. Sullivan did not sing down to the audience. The fact was that he sang all the different kinds of music with such fine interpretation of meaning (regardless of language or period) that everyone could understand and appreciate it. This is a point that some of us would like to emphasize: it is not the kind of music being sung, but HOW it is sung, that determines whether we enjoy it. And Mr. Sullivan did us the honor of giving us his best.

Brian Sullivan is an attractive, athletic-looking man, which probably accounts in part for his tremendous strength and control of voice. He was very relaxed with the audience, and was extremely courteous to wait for late-comers to be seated throughout the first half of the program. We might suggest that the board consider setting the time for future Saturday evening performances slightly later to prevent any recurrences of this kind.

"If With All Your Heart" from Elijah by Mendelssohn was a fine choice for the recital opener, and was sung with great ease of the legato style of the period. The Handel aria which followed was "Sound an Alarm," a brilliant florid number which contrasted well and began to show the resonance and projection of the high tones of Mr. Sullivan's voice. We might like to add that this listener did not miss a single word of the English, another mark of a fine singer. (It is not easy to sing understandably.)

We were surprised that the audience responded so enthusiastically to the "Traum durch die Dammerung" (Dream in the Twilight) by Richard Strauss. This song was sung very softly, but every tone could have been heard outside the recital hall. Perhaps this versatility in such a huge voice pleased the listeners. The German song group ended with the gloriously dramatic Strauss song "Zueignung" (Devotion.)

The full power of voice was shown with the opera-lover's favorite composer, "Puccini": arias from Turandot and Tosca. Puccini is considered "schmaltz" by some opera critics, but if this is schmaltz -- "viva la Puccini!" We liked it!

The old favorite, ("The Joys of Love) by Martini, began the second half of the program. This was followed by the Massenet aria (The Dream), which again calls for use of the very high soft tones. Mr. Sullivan is a master at this technique, coming from the middle voice up into the "falsetto." The Italian songs by Cimara were brilliantly sung, and the high resonant tones rang as he sang, in Italian, "Open all your windows to the sun and the light will enter your hearts through your eyes!"

The audience was pleased with the next group of Irish and folk songs -- The Rose of Tralee, Kitty, My Love, etc. Again, the words were readily understood and the clever lyrics won smiles and chuckles.

The favorite "Questa o quella" from Rigoletto by Verdi was reminiscent of Mario Lanza, and perhaps more tastefully done. It ended the recital on a gay spirited note. We were favored with several encores and asked to join in the singing of several Christmas carols, a friendly gesture.

Those who chose to go elsewhere or found it easier to stay home in front of the TV missed one of the most exciting musical evenings Canyon audiences have had the pleasure of experiencing. The community is to be commended for choosing to bring a singer of such stature to this small city. In my humble opinion, the Amarillo Symphony might well consider Brian Sullivan as a future guest artist. To those readers who may think we have been superfluous in our review of Mr. Sullivan, we apologize -- but also add -- he was great and we enjoyed every minute of it!

Senate Post For Mansker

Graduate student Robert T. Mansker was elected Thursday to fill the remaining vacant seat on the West Texas State University Student Senate. Margin was 17-15.

Only graduate students voted in the runoff between Mansker and Ben Kline, Jr., following an earlier election in which John David Bryant won the other position.

Two graduate posts on the Senate were created recently in a special vote by the Student Association. Mansker will take office immediately.

Fire Department Given $100 Check

A check for $100 was presented to the Canyon Fire Department last Wednesday by the Randall County Home Demonstration Council.

"We will use the check to buy a centrifugal pump to use on our tank truck in the rural areas of the county," said Jack Jennings, fire chief.

"The funds were raised at our recent Lions Club Carnival booth," commented Mrs. O. O. Henry, president of the HD Council, as she made the presentation to Jennings and Joe Rice, fire captain.

Mrs. Velton Sorgee, retiring secretary-treasurer of the HD Council, assisted with the presentation.

Several years ago, donations by the Canyon Lions Club, Rotary Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club and the Randall County Home Demonstration Council enabled the fire department to purchase a resuscitator for use throughout the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller spent the pre-Christmas week end at Maple visiting with her father, Garvin Long, and with her mother, Bonnie Long, at Muleshoe.

'66 Homecoming Events Planned

A number of changes have been made in 1966 Homecoming for West Texas State University, according to committee chairman Dr. Jack Walker, professor of speech at WT.

The Buffaloes will play the University of Richmond in the homecoming football game, October 15, 1966. Time for the game is set at 6:30 p. m.

Other events of the day will include morning registration, a parade during late morning, a noon barbecue, class teas and reunions during the early afternoon, and dances following the football game.
